

Unlocking the Secrets of SCFAs for Health and Disease: Attend the 4th Asian Conference SCFA 2024 Singapore

The 4th Asian Conference on Short-Chain Fatty Acids (SCFAs) will be held in the vibrant city of Singapore from March 26-29, 2024. This much-anticipated event brings together leading experts from academia, industry, and clinical practice to share the latest advancements in the field of SCFAs.

What are SCFAs?

Short-chain fatty acids (SCFAs) are produced by the fermentation of dietary fiber by gut bacteria. They play a crucial role in various physiological processes, including energy metabolism, immune function, and gut health. Research has linked SCFAs to a wide range of health benefits, including reduced inflammation, improved metabolic health, and protection against chronic diseases.
